Kids' Summer Reading Record 2023

Record your minutes read here! For little ones, we suggest that you make each bubble represent a certain number of minutes (like 15 or 30 minutes). Fill in a bubble each time you read that amount of time. If you prefer, you can use a new bubble for each reading session and just write down how many minutes you read in one sitting! Every minute that you read or are read to (or that you are reading to someone) counts! Happy reading!

A large grid of 48 empty circles arranged in 8 rows and 6 columns, intended for a dot-marker activity. The grid is located in the center of the page, with a cartoon illustration of a boat and a person in the bottom right corner.

Record your minutes read here! Write the amount of time you read each day (or each reading session) inside a bubble. Add up those minutes to log on Beanstack or to turn in at the library.
