Meet Miss Melissa: Librarian, Adventurer, Baker

Miss Melissa McCleary is happy to join the Pembroke Public Library community as the new Youth Services Librarian. While an avid reader and enthusiastic Librarian, she also has interests in Doctor Who, musicals, Harry Potter, yoga, writing, baking, hiking, and more.

In a large house in Virginia, Melissa was raised surrounded by books and creativity. After a childhood filled with climbing trees, catching fireflies, and reading every Goosebumps book available, she moved to Pennsylvania with her family at the start of high school, where she soon embarked on a journey to college and her realized dream of librarianship.

After five years, Melissa earned a Bachelor of Science in Education and then a Master of Science in Library Science at Clarion University of Pennsylvania, graduating in the spring of 2014. During this time, she became the Young Adult Services Librarian at Clarion Free Library, where she was a mentor, an interior decorator, a technology enthusiast, a reference source, an event planner, and whatever else was needed by the teens and the general population of Clarion for four years. She is very glad to have the chance to share her knowledge and love of libraries with a new community.

After graduation, the stars aligned and she was given the opportunity to work at the Pembroke Public Library, which has felt like stepping into Hogwarts every day: magical with a chance to learn something from unexpected places!

When not performing storytimes for toddlers or playing Wii games with teens,

Melissa enjoys reading young adult and children's books, going for long walks, and attempting to find a new crafting skill (as yet, she is unsuccessful). She is excited to be able to bring fun and innovative programming and ideas to Pembroke and hopes to spark imagination and enthusiasm in young patrons.

Frequently Asked Questions:

Do you like Minecraft?

Yes! I have a very wide range of interests, and have even played Minecraft. I am always open to learning about new things, though, so I would love to hear more about what you enjoy, play, read, or do!

Do you play video games?

I do this too! I don't just read all day

(though I do love to sit down with a good book), but I have other pastimes, which include PS3 and Wii games.

What's a good book?

They're all good in their own way. The beauty of having a whole library to choose from means there is something for everyone. Just let me know what the basics for a good story are for you and we'll find something to keep you reading through the night (or until your bedtime).

What are you reading right now?

This changes so quickly that it is hard to keep up. If you're curious, feel free to follow me on Twitter @readinthecorner for updates on my books and book reviews, the library, and general silliness.

Staff Picks

Wondering what the staff here at the library is reading? These are some of our favorites!

This fall's staff reading suggestions are graciously provided by our own soft-spoken Janet, who is always cheerful and eager to help. Like many of us, Janet finds added interest in a story that spotlights familiar places, so she has contributed some of her favorite books which are set right here in Massachusetts.

Her first choice is Suspicion by Joseph Finder. "This is a compelling suspense story set in the Boston area about a single father who is trying to provide his teenage daughter with an expensive private school education. When the tuition bills begin to pile up, he reluctantly agrees to accept a loan from a new and very wealthy friend. Soon afterward he discovers that his friend is involved in money laundering for a Mexican drug cartel, and now the protagonist is wanted by the DEA as well. It's a suspenseful story with lots of twists which makes mention of many locations around Boston."

Fans of psychological fiction should try Love Anthony by Lisa Genova. In her third novel Genova, who earned a graduate degree from Harvard and worked as a neuroscientist before becoming an author, draws a portrait of Anthony, a ten-year-old nonverbal autistic child who has recently and unexpectedly passed away. Following his death, his parents' marriage dissolves and his mother retreats to Nantucket to grieve and attempt to make sense of the tragedy. There she befriends another woman who is facing challenges of her own. Genova gives an authentic voice to Anthony, according to Janet, and the book is filled with many touching passages.

Janet's final suggestion is the "Carlotta Carlyle" mystery series by Linda Barnes. "These fun books recount the adventures of private investigator Carlotta Carlyle. Carlotta is a former cop and occasional cabbie, and solves crimes throughout the city of Boston. She's tough, smart, and a bit quirky. These books will appeal to readers of Sue Grafton and Marcia Muller." The first book of the twelve in the series is A Trouble of Fools. Other popular titles include Snapshot, Cold Case, and Lie Down With the Devil.

Many thanks to Janet for calling to mind the pleasure of reading great fiction set in our own backyard! For more recommendations, stop by the staff picks display on the left side of the library.

For even more recommendations, remember to check the revolving Staff Picks display near the Fiction section, towards the rear on the left side of the library's main reading room.

October 2014

Thank you everyone for your support this year!

The 6th Annual July Silent Auction raised over $1500 for our library. The Friends would like to thank everyone who donated to the auction, and also thank everyone who participated by placing bids. We would also like to thank our great volunteers for seeking out donations, setting up, and organizing the notification of the winners of the auction items. Of course, we would be remiss if we did not thank the library staff for their support and assistance in handing out bid numbers and letting us take over the front of the library with our auction for the month of July. This is one of our favorite fundraisers, and it will be back again next summer. Watch for the information in the spring. It's a great way to donate a new or almost new item that you no longer need or use. Keep us in mind as you do your spring cleaning.
