Meet Our Magazines

With the coming of springtime our lives tend to expand to outdoor spaces. We plant gardens and spruce up the yard, start a long-awaited home improvement project, commit in earnest to that daily walk or run, or simply welcome back the birds and other wildlife. At the very least we allow ourselves the pleasure of more leisure time in the sunshine — at the playground, on the trails, at the beach. It's a time of longer days and renewed energy. The only thing that seems to diminish with the warmer weather is the number of hours we spend immersed in a long engrossing book. Fortunately, the Pembroke Public Library has a solution to your reading dilemma: an extensive magazine collection! In a brief sitting you can take in a world of information, or just relax and unwind. You can pick up advice to help with that garden, home improvement project, new fitness routine, or birdfeeder. And when you have finished perusing a periodical, you will still have plenty of time remaining to get outside and take action!

Say, for instance, that you are anxiously awaiting the return of warm weather and the chance to give the yard a facelift. Maybe you've been daydreaming about the possibilities of color combinations for this year's annuals or a new design for your kitchen garden or container garden.

While you comb the aisles of local gardening centers for unique flora and wait for the tiny green shoots to emerge from newly-cleared earth, why not indulge your imagination by browsing through some of our gardening magazines?

Popular titles include Better Homes and Gardens, Fine Gardening, and Good Housekeeping. If your focus is on nature, try Birds and Blooms or Birds and Blooms Extra. If you favor natural gardening techniques, investigate Organic Gardening or Gardening or Mother Earth News. Perhaps you dream of being self-sufficient and able to grow all your own produce — take a look at Hobby Farms. Garden Clippings, a four-page newsletter published by the UMass Extension Center for Agriculture, gives helpful month-by-month tips on gardening in our state. And if the location of your home presents special enchantments or challenges, Coastal Living and Country Living may offer some fresh ideas.

The library's magazine collection encompasses well over one hundred titles in a broad range of categories. They have been selected to satisfy the varied interests of the people of Pembroke – whether your passion is riding, writing, investing, knitting, or peoplewatching, we have a subscription to suit your fancy. In addition, leafing through an issue of something you've never read before is a great way to spark your creativity and develop a new interest. Our collection is always in flux, with new titles being added yearly while others fold, merge, or make the transition to the digital page. The principle feature of a magazine is timeliness, so the nature of the beast ensures that the collection will keep pace with the changing tides of current appeal. In future editions of this newsletter we will highlight different categories of magazines and introduce new titles. You will most assuredly be surprised to discover some of the subscriptions we carry. We hope it will entice you to expand your comfort zone and open yourself to new information, experiences, and interests, inspired by the pages of a magazine.

Children's Room News

Spring has finally sprung! After a long winter in Pembroke I think it's safe to say everyone is looking forward to the warm weather. Of course, we'll also have some awesome programs to look forward to at the library as well!

Ages 2+ are invited to storytimes on Mondays & Tuesdays at 10:30 a.m. Both sessions feature books, music, fingerplays, and a craft centered on a weekly theme. The Monday and Tuesday sessions of each week spotlight the same theme, so choose whichever best fits your schedule and get ready to shake your maracas! On Wednesdays we offer baby lapsit for ages 6 months to 24 months at 10:30 a.m. This program includes short books, lots of songs, and of course musical instruments!

The Lego Club will not meet during the month of April. Check in with the Children's room to see what May brings!

Every Friday in April at 10:30 a.m. we'll be offering a Storytime Yoga program with Becky Paul of Rising Child. This is a four-week session, but participants may register for one session or all. Expect stories, songs and lots of movement! This class is appropriate for children ages 3-6, and registration is required. Each session is limited to 12 participants.

Everyone's latest favorite Disney film has been released on DVD and we'll be showing it at the library! The movie is Frozen, of course. Come out and watch, or re-watch, this Disney masterpiece on Wednesday, April 2nd at 2 p.m. (this is an early release day for Pembroke schools). The screening is open to all ages. Children under 10 must be accompanied by a guardian.

Staff Picks

Wondering what the staff here at the library is reading? These are some of our favorites!

Our staff picks for this issue definitely have a British bent. They have been selected by our own self-professed Anglophile, Laura. Her compelling descriptions of the books she has recommended will no doubt entice you to indulge your own inner Anglophile!

It is so very hard to choose only a few favorites from among the three hundred and seventy-nine books on the list of books I've read that I have been keeping since college. Some are perennial favorites, some are old favorites (that maybe wouldn't be on a second reading list twenty years later), and some are books which are not favorites as such, but that for some reason or another stick with you. And more new great books are always being written!

The best thing is, there is always something I haven't read to look forward to—books are one thing that will never run out. I will do my best to represent all the above categories in this very difficult choosing.

I admit — I am an unabashedly unrepentant Anglophile. I have always loved all things English, and cried when I finally visited Glastonbury Abbey (where King Arthur is said to have been buried). To narrow my choices, I am showcasing books with a British theme.

With that in mind, and the last Downton Abbey episode of the season in the rearview mirror, I will tell you about some of my favorite (or favourite) books from the British Isles.

Perennial Favorite: Pride and Prejudice by Jane Austen. Formulaic, yes. All Jane's books feature English women without choices or great fortunes, and the well-situated but seemingly out-of-reach men who become their knights in shining armor. However, the love story of Elizabeth Bennet and Mr. Darcy will never ever get old to me.

Old Favorite: The Mists of Avalon by Marion Zimmer Bradley. I read this because the feminist college professor whom I thought was so cool loved this book, so I had to read it too. I have always loved the many versions of the story of King Arthur, but this one is unique in that it is told from the point of view of his half-sister Morgaine. The Mists of Avalon focuses on the women in the story as much as on the knights themselves. This version was always more magical and yet more human to me than the others I've read.

Stick-With-You Book: Me Before You by Jojo Moyes. Set in present day London, Me Before You is the story of a blue-collar young English woman who takes on the position of caregiver to a taciturn quadriplegic. He is a formerly vibrant, active, and brilliant young businessman who feels trapped in his body, and very sorry for himself. This is a story about growth, acceptance, love, and change. It would be a very good choice for a book club discussion.

Newish Book: the Outlander series by Diana Gabaldon. I say "newish" because Outlander, the first in the series, came out in 1991, but the latest in the series (Written In My Own Heart's Blood, the eighth book) is set to come out later this year. It is both an historical fiction and science fiction novel about a WWII nurse who accidentally travels back in time through a stone circle to Scotland in the days of Bonnie Prince Charlie and the Jacobite revolution of the mid-eighteenth century. The wee English lass finds a strapping bonny Scottish lad, and begins a romance that spans centuries. It is a slightly guilty pleasure. I say only slightly because there is history in there — you will definitely absorb some good Jeopardy facts — but you won't notice because it is a fast-paced adventure story with just a dash of bodice-ripping thrown in.

Regular readers of this column will recall that the Outlander series was also recommended by Linda a few months ago, raising the likelihood that these substantial tales will appeal to a great many of us. All of the selections profiled in this article can be obtained through the SAILS library network. For even more ideas, peruse the staff picks display here at the Pembroke Public Library. Many thanks to Laura for mining her substantial reading history to present four books worthy of becoming our own old, new, or even perennial favorites!

BOOK & BAKE SALE

Book donations are welcome anytime, but especially now for our Spring Book and Bake Sale on April 12th. Books need to be in good to excellent condition and may be dropped off at the circulation desk at the library. Unfortunately, we cannot accept textbooks or magazines. Also, please do not use the book drop for donations. No books to donate? Consider donating a homemade baked good, or volunteering to help out at the sale.

Also, we are trying something new - special pricing for this Spring's book sale! You can pay per book as usual (our prices are very reasonable), or you can buy a bag and fill it! If you are a paid member of the Friends, pay a discounted price for the bag.

Money raised from the book sale is put towards our general fund to pay for museum passes, special library programs, Best Sellers for Pembroke patrons, music programs, summer reading, and much more.

JULY SILENT AUCTION

Remember the Friends while spring cleaning this year. Watch for more information on how to donate to our annual July Silent Auction. Items must be in good to excellent condition to be accepted. New items are especially welcome, as well as hand-made items or services. Donors must make arrangements for delivery of large items to winning bidders. The Friends reserve the right to refuse any donations that are not in keeping with the spirit of the Silent Auction.

Book, DVD, and CD donations are being accepted now and throughout the year. We ask that your donations be in good to excellent condition. Unfortunately, we cannot accept textbooks or magazines.

Membership Drive 2014 Great Library=Great Friends

The Friends of the Pembroke Library have some great friends and we have a great library! Help us to continue to provide many extras for our library by renewing your membership, or becoming a member. Like last year, we are sending the 2014 renewal notices via an email notice rather than the postal service. This saves paper, time and postage costs. You can continue your yearly support simply by printing and mailing the attached form with your membership dues, or dropping it off at the main desk.

If you are not a Friend, please consider joining this year. New membership forms can be found on the library's website, www.pembrokepubliclibrary.org, and at the library. An individual membership costs only $10, and a family membership is $20. For $50, a business can provide a year-long sponsorship. The Friends are an authorized 501c3 organization, so your membership dues are also tax deductible.

The Friends would like to thank the following business sponsors for their support and generosity:

Laura daSilva, CPA
